Trend Report

SPRING 2023

We often see spring as a time of renewal, for ourselves and our surroundings. And at GW Interiors, it's the season of putting plans into action. From retro revivals to growing your antique collection, we're pulling out all the stops on all the trends to keep on your radar this season, inspiring you to take the next step to becoming your own classic.

Color Of The Season

Peppery

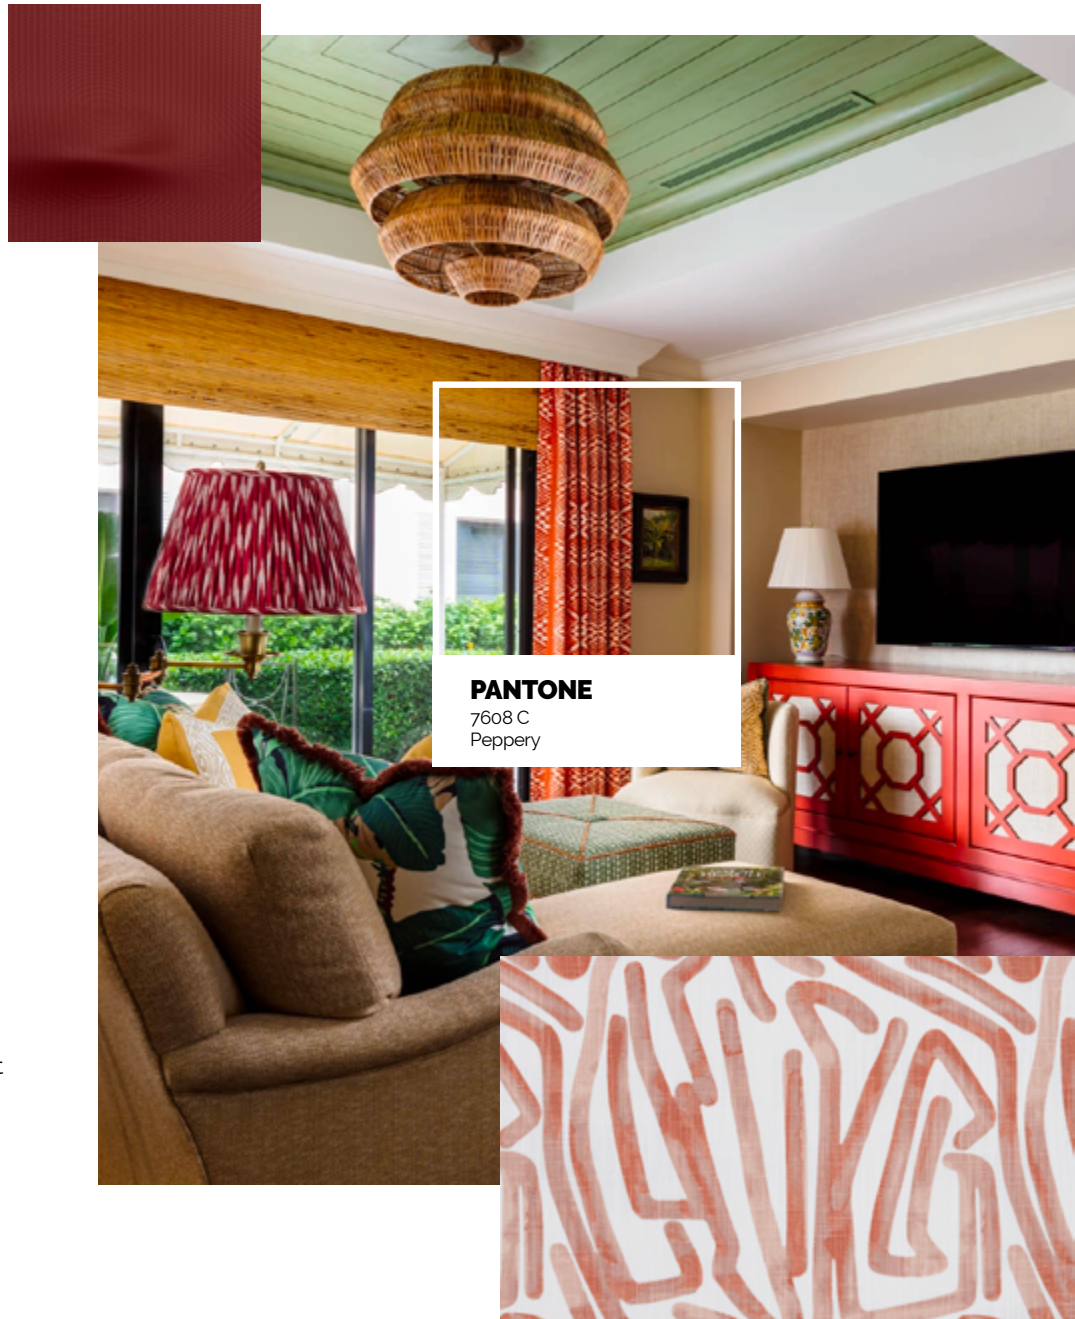

This subdued red orange is a groovy take on the more earthy terracotta. In line with the rise of 60s and 70s inspired interiors, Peppery can be styled playful with warm yellows and blues for an authentic Mid-Mod feel or played down with more neutral tones as a tasteful accent color.

Here's how to use it:

Make a bold first impression and use Peppery on your front door for some eye-catching curb appeal.

Contrast Peppery with white crown molding and a vaulted white ceiling for the illusion of more space and a traditional feel.

Test the ways in a less permanent way with Peppery hued ceramics as your dinnerware to create a cozy, yet refined layout.

This Just In

Here are just a few of the trends we see phasing out for bold new ideas this season.

Houseplants

OUT Mediterranean and Tuscan-inspired aesthetics are making way for cultural inspiration from Scandinavia and Japan.

IN Not all that glitters is gold. In fact, we're opting for warmer, earthier bronze, dark wood furnishings, and even a touch of Boho.

OUT We're swapping out faux distressed furniture and detailing for the real thing with the rise of heirloom furniture.

IN Don't be afraid of mixing old with new. The bold geometry of Art Deco pairs well with modern furniture for a tastefully eclectic look

OUT Privacy, please. Big open floor plans are being ruled out for designated rooms and cozy spaces

IN Groove into patterned wallpaper and materials like velvet, bamboo, and rattan just in time for a 70s revival.

Spring Cleaning

Call it a reset. Transform your home without a full redesign by making these small changes.

It's The Little Things

The easiest way to refresh any space is to start with the details. Switch out old kitchen cupboard knobs with streamlined handles or change the chandelier in the foyer to a retro-style pendant light for a completely different look.

Get Personal

This spring, it's all about creating a layered personalized space. Take the time to rediscover old photos, pieces of art, or even sentimental tchotchkes that can be displayed around your home as both decor and a story waiting to be told.

Pander to the Pantry

Add a little pizzazz to your pantry with more storage and organizational systems to be the epicenter of meal planning.

Make a Statement

A statement piece can elevate your entire space. Here are the ones worth investing in.

Let There Be Light

While not a tangible statement piece, the right lighting can take a space from drab to dramatic with the flick of a switch. Opt for color-changing smart bulbs with mood settings to go from cozy coffeehouse vibes to natural sunlight in seconds.

Mid-Century Marvels

With the comeback of bold shapes and streamlined designs inspired by the timeless appeal of Mid-Century Modern, there's no time like the present to invest in the real thing. Do your research on the most coveted pieces of that time period like the Wassily chair or the Noguchi Table.

Thanks, It's Vintage

No matter what style you're trying to achieve, finding authentic vintage pieces will not only add character to your room but mystique and intrigue from the story behind it. Peruse your local thrift stores or use an online store like 1stdibs.com for a curated selection.

A behind-the-scenes look at some of our favorite projects this season.

Southporte

"The goal was to lighten and brighten the space while making the interiors harmonious with the architecture. We brought in updated mid-century modern fixtures and a beautiful stack glass wall by Chris Reisert to completely transform the space."
